Sub: Notice for parents regarding school books

Dear Parents,

Mr. Kundu of Swayambhar the vendor for our school books and stationery has clarified certain queries. They are:

1. Every alternate day Mr. Kundu goes to the nearby police station with requisite papers , asking permission to transport books to students and allow him to work with 10% of his workers. The police has refused and told him he would be arrested if he even opens the lock of his shop.
2. There has been no state government directives about transporting books to students.
3. Regarding some school that had been transporting school books to parents, he said that very school had a tie up with a transporter who was distributing food packets in various localities. However when the police came to know , the whole thing was stopped and that transporter was arrested.
4. Mr. Kundu is waiting patiently for the State government directive and he will immediately inform the school.

Thanking you for your cooperation as always.
